Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Pickles et al. (6,390,857).

In regard to claim 1, Pickles et al. discloses an electrical connector assembly comprising: a first connector 1 having a plurality of terminals 5, a plurality of substrates 4 equipped with lands connected to the terminals 5, contact sections 9 to be connected to a second connector 11, and a first housing 2 which supports the plurality of substrates 4 in an array; a second connector 11 having a plurality of female terminals 30 which engage the contact sections 9 of the substrates 4, and a second housing which supports the female terminals 30; and a rough guide mechanism 7 which guides a mating between the first connector 1 and second connector 11 relatively roughly an initial stage of mating, and a precision guide mechanism 8 which guides the mating between the first connector 1 and second connector 11 relatively precisely at an advanced stage of mating.

Art Unit: 2833

In regard to claim 2, Pickles et al. discloses the rough guide mechanism 7 comprises first guides (groove at sides of 7) installed at two locations at a certain distance from each other on a first side wall of the first housing 2, second guides (two projections of 8) installed on the first housing 2 at two locations on a second side wall opposite the first side wall, being separated by a distance different from the distance between the first guides, and first complementary guides and second complementary guides (see fig. 3) installed in the second housing corresponding to the first guides and the second guides, respectively.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3 and 4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art fails to provide, teach or suggest the precision guide mechanism comprises chamfers created on corners of the substrates which are on the side of the contact sections and tapers created on the second housing corresponding to the chamfers.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Tho D. Ta whose telephone number is (571) 272-2014. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (8:00-5:30).
